

USING THH IN THE CLASSROOM

Podcasts are a great way for students to hone active listening skills and to learn from researchers on topics you cover in your history and Indiana studies class. THH episodes range from 18 to 35 minutes and cover a wide variety of topics from Indiana history.

For each lesson plan, you will find the following materials:

- Standards: This is a list of U.S. History and Indiana Studies Standards addressed by the episode on which the assignment is based.
- Print Copy: This PDF document is available so you can print paper copies of assignments.
- Fillable Copy: This fillable PDF document is available to make these resources suitable for online or virtual assignments.
- Quick Exercises: If you want to get even more out of our podcasts, try these quick engagement exercises with your students.
- Dig Deeper: This PDF provides additional resources to allow you to learn more about the topic at hand.

Note: For a teacher's key, which includes suggested answers and time stamps, please contact Lindsey Beckley at lbeckley@library.in.gov.

THH can help your students develop various skills, including:

- Critical thinking
- Evaluating sources
- Active listening

You can either play the podcast for the whole class or allow students to work independently by giving them access to the fillable PDF. THH episodes are available at podcast.history.in.gov or on your podcast player of choice (Apple Podcasts, Stitcher, Spotify, etc.)

If you have any suggestions on how we can improve our teacher resources, please contact Lindsey Beckley at lbeckley@library.in.gov.
